

■ VOICING CONCERNS: Delma Wales, 78, standing, puts a question to Guernsey Coal managing director David Meeks, far left, at yesterday's public meeting held to discuss the company's proposed redevelopment of Les Monnains area.

(Picture by Adrian Miller, 0496777)

Residents want Road lorry-free

PEOPLE living near the Guernsey Coal yard will not be happy with the plans for redevelopment unless the gate to Les Monnains Road is shut.

by Joel de Woolfson
the new plans to Environment to 14 We can more than halve the present traffic flow

Rugby star to kick off celebrity lunches

RUGBY legend Austin Healey will be the guest speaker at the inaugural Celebrity Lunch.

Azur Productions is launching a series of them at the Farmhouse Hotel on Friday 2 November when the ex-England scrum half will talk about his career and give his insight into the recent World Cup.

■ ON THE EDGE: Rugby legend Austin Healey will be the guest speaker at the first Celebrity Lunch.

network among an elite group of like-minded business leaders and entrepreneurs," added Mr Marsh. "We will provide quality hospitality to their VFs and entertain their clients and business partners in a relaxed, informal environment."

Maintaining our strong track record of providing the very best in corporate hospitality, entertaining and networking, we are pleased to welcome one of English rugby's greatest characters for what is sure to be a highly amusing and insightful lunch.

The star, who won 51 caps for England, played in five Six Nations Tournaments and was twice selected to tour with the British Lions. This event is the company's pilot project. If successful, it plans to put on four celebrity lunches a year. Our events are aimed at allowing our business clients an opportunity to

Productions started its celebrity lunches in Monaco in 2003 and Mr Marsh said popularity had enabled it to take its guest speakers around Europe. Austin is a very entertaining speaker and he will have all the details and inside stories on the state of play and the personalities involved in the Rugby World Cup. And with Austin having an opinion on everything, we can be sure of a lively lunch. He speaks like he plays: on the edge. Tickets for the event are available from Mr Marsh on 00 377 93 30 08 75. Fans flock to watch Rugby World Cup Page 5

COMPETITION

Win two tickets to the Celebrity Lunch with Austin Healey by answering the following question.
For which club team did Austin Healey play?
Send your answer to The Austin Healey Competition, The Guernsey Press, PO Box 57, Brave Road, Vale, GY1 3AW.