Give the Team an excuse to dig here

ALL it needs is someone with a cunning plan – preferably involving an interesting site for an archaeological dig – then Channel 4's Time Team can come to Guernsey to film.

The show's presenter, Tony Robinson, yesterday said that it was absolute madness that the team had never been to the Channel Islands.

The site would need a touch of mystery so that the team had something to solve, but Mr Robinson – in Guernsey to speak at an Azur Productions Celebrity Lunch – is obviously looking forward to coming back.
